OUR GUEST OF HONOR
GLENN E. HOLMES

It is with great pleasure that the editors dedicate the 1937 Tabula to Mr. Holmes, who has been so successful as a coach and has done so much to encourage good sportsmanship and clean living in the boys of this school.

BON VOYAGE!

The lines are cast off—the ship is free—you are on your way on a cruise through the sea of events which make up the past year in our school. As the pilot is dropped and the boat begins to feel the rise and fall of the open sea, you will be taken in fancy to some familiar ports, where, it is hoped, you may revive many pleasant memories and see again the faces of many of your friends.

THE SKIPPER

Mr. M. R. McDaniel, whose steady hand on the wheel has guided the school surely on its eventful voyage. It is a pleasure to reproduce with the artist's permission this portrait of our distinguished superintendent. The picture was presented to the school by the class of 1933 and the artist, Mr. Paul Trebilcock, who graduated from this school in 1920.

Since its organization, Girls' Club Council has become increasingly important and now is the guiding force in all girls' activities. This year the Council was unusually large, being made up of twenty-five seniors and ten juniors. They were elected by the combined vote of the teachers and the Senior and Junior girls. The chief activities of the Council this year have been the "Big Sister" meeting, the planning of regular Girls' Club meetings, the Stocking Drive, and the Girls' Club Show.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student government in our school is represented by the Student Council. This august body is composed of twelve members, two from each of the three lower classes, and six from the Senior class. This year, led by its chairman, Dale Fisher, the council has been unusually active in the handling of school activities. Several new features introduced this year were the Freshman-Sophomore and Junior-Sophomore dances held in the lunch room on Friday afternoons, the weekly articles in the Trap, the Student Council Suggestion box, and the student monitors in the lunchroom. In addition the council sponsored a drive raising over one thousand dollars to help in the flood relief work, and a large number of students seeking employment were interviewed for the state employment service.

SMOKING COUNCIL

One form of student government existing in this school is the Smoking Council. It consists of these eleven boys who were chosen from representatives elected in junior and senior deskrooms. Its primary purpose is to enforce the smoking laws of the school. Those students who are found smoking within three blocks of the school are brought before a council meeting and are tried. If convicted, they receive "nights" and have their names published in the Trap on the "black list," which is also posted in the hall.

SAFETY COUNCIL

Safety Council, under the energetic leadership of Mr. Soliday, Chairman Bill Fox, and Secretary Donata Westen, has made great progress this year in collecting the records of all accidents happening to high school students and of all automobile accidents in Oak Park. The Council also maintains the intriguing spot-map in the front hall which shows the type and location of each automobile accident. The distribution of safety pamphlets is another task of this group which aims to make Oak Park a safer village.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

A beautiful garden, a star covered sky, the scent of roses—. This is the result of long hours of work spent on the Junior Prom by various committees headed by the members of the Junior Council. One might have seen members of this Council pasting flowers, bringing furniture into the gym, and keeping a watchful eye on the punch, in the act of preparing for their yearly event. Can one doubt that the Junior Class will go far with such enthusiastic and capable leaders? The Council, besides managing the Prom, directs the election of the Junior Class officers. The officers then automatically become the heads of the Council. During the year any one of the officers might be called upon to preside at one of the familiar third period assemblies. Operating together, the Junior officers and the Junior Council lead to the formation of a better organized class the next year.

BOYS' CONFERENCE

"Crime and Its Relation to Youth and Religion" was the theme of Dr. Clifford Shaw at the banquet of the 20th Annual Boys' Conference. This informal discussion group is composed of Oak Park and Proviso boys who forget animosities on the gridiron and discuss frankly and intelligently problems of current interest. Saturday morning the boys continued their discussion of crime on the West Side. Following this, the boys satisfied their physical beings with a lunch provided by their Maywood hosts.

GIRLS' CONFERENCE

A friendly group of girls from Oak Park, River Forest, and Maywood have a general get-together once every year. This is a splendid opportunity for getting acquainted with the Maywood girls. This year the theme for the Conference was "The Will to Make Life Count". Betty Bennett made a very efficient President and with the help of Jean Crawford, who as Chairman of the Program Committee, was fortunate to obtain two exceptionally fine speakers, Jill Edwards and Lottie Mae Porter, the Conference was unusually successful.

DECLAMATORY AND ORATORICAL

These speakers have developed special talents in original orations and in the reciting of selected speeches such as humorous and dramatic declamations and verse reading. Dorothy Sanem was chosen to represent Oak Park in the Prince of Peace Declamatory Contests. She also won first place in verse reading in the state contest of the Illinois High School Speech League. In the Illinois Wesleyan State contest Ralph Johnson won second place in original oratory, while George Schaefer placed high in dramatic reading contests.

EXTEMPORE

This is the ambitious group of students in high school who, on short notice, are able to discuss extensively war-torn Spain, the packing of the Supreme Court, the merits of a commodity dollar. This versatile group of extemporaneous speakers are the "Minute Men" of the platform. Their activities are not confined to Oak Park High School, for they are invited by local service clubs and other outside organizations to lead discussions, to present debates and to give extemporaneous speeches.

WEATHER FORECASTING STAFF

The high school weather forecasting staff started when a group of pupils in geography became interested in weather forecasting as a service to the school. Three divisions of the staff are recognized: first, senior forecasters, pupils with some forecasting experience; second, junior forecasters, pupils with less weather knowledge; third, recruits.

Daily forecasts are posted and a forecast for the week end is published in the Trapeze. These compare favorably with those of the Chicago Weather Bureau. All available information is used—daily records, U. S. daily maps, weather instruments and short wave broadcasts. The present staff hopes that others will join the group and thereby make this service to the school permanent.

It would have been most happy if there had been room to print the pictures of all our passengers. But that was obviously impossible. However, for your entertainment there were selected at pure random a few whom you may find on the following pages. The Juniors were chosen without plan of any kind; in the case of the Sophomores and Freshmen one or two were chosen by lot from each homeroom. Look and see if you were in luck!

The group who is responsible for the tremendous responsibility of financing and managing the high school publications is the Tabula Publishing Board. The members of the Publishing Board take care of the advertising, printing, and financial problems of the Trapeze, the Literary and Senior Tabulas. However, the board could not operate successfully without the loyal cooperation of the Trap Agents. These students devote many of their "A" periods to the collection of money for the publications and to the distribution of them.

THE TRAPEZE

The success of our Friday morning diversion, the Trap, is due in full to the hard-working editors of this ever-popular paper, and to its staff of alert reporters. Everything that happens during the week in the way of sports, important assemblies, clubs, and other prominent activities is covered and written up before Wednesday night, to appear in the Trap on Friday morning. The editors have the responsibility of editing the material and of planning the layout before the Trap goes to press Thursday night.

SENIOR TABULA

Picture, if you can, a group of frantic students climbing over each other trying to produce results out of chaos. It all started with the plans for the 1937 Senior Tabula.

Could it be a Tabula in any other dress? A vote was taken and the ayes won. Do you like it? Note how it suggests the theme of the book, for this did not just happen. Next, color became an enthusiasm of the staff and immediately caught the imagination and support of the group. Silver, brown, green, blue, yellow? Behold the result!

Perhaps you want to find the picture of your heart throb or to discover just how famous you really are. Consult the index. This too is a departure from the accepted mode. If you have never made a personal index, try it. This year there are a great many candid pictures and they help make a very well balanced book. The Staff is happy to give the reader the review of school life contained within these covers.

PHOTOGRAPHIC STAFF

Look at all the pictures in this book! Almost every picture except the Senior portraits was taken and developed by the Photographic Staff. Few high schools in the country have staffs that take and develop their own pictures. The group this year is composed of five members who are the "cream of the crop" of Camera Club. No one can adequately estimate the hours and energy they put into their work. Without them it would be impossible to have a Senior Annual really produced by the school.

ARTISTS

Most of the artistic material needed by the school is accounted for by the group of talented students who are included in this picture. The posters which are in the main hall advertising important school events, the attractive covers of the Senior Annual and of the Literary Tabula, and, finally, the appropriate illustrations in both these publications are the results of their efforts. These students are given this recognition for their excellent work, on the recommendation of the Art Department.

THE LITERARY TABULA

The Literary Tabula, the most intellectual of the school's publications, represents the literary achievements of the students. The best essays, short stories, vignettes, poems and book reviews from all classes find their way into its pages, as well as some of the best work from the Art Department. The magazine, appearing semi-annually, is edited by a staff of ten junior and senior students selected by competitive examination and working under the careful guidance of Miss Burt and Mr. Hohn.

The Freshman-Sophomore Literary Tabula staffs are two groups of underclassmen who are interested in gaining experience in school publications. They handle all the material handed in from first and second year English classes. The best of this is chosen and submitted for consideration to the editorial staff. The freshmen have a section of their own, entitled "Freshets." Membership on these staffs offers good experience for those who wish to continue this type of work in their Junior and Senior years.

LIGHTS CREW

All the skillful lighting effects of school dramatic productions are the work of the Lights Crew. Under the tutelage of Ed Strait, the boys can produce anything from a sunset to a flash of lightning. Back stage committees hold their breath as light bulbs sail through the air to the men waiting on the catwalk. So long as this integral part of dramatic productions is advised by Mr. O'Brien, doors may stick but light switches will never fail.

STAGE CREW

For several weeks before any school production one might have seen behind stage a group of boys in old clothes working with the scenery of the forthcoming play. These boys, with Robert Job as chairman and Evan Tyrell as assistant for the Senior Class Play and Stanley Tirrell and Edwin Walker as co-chairmen for the Girls' Club Show, merit credit for the smoothness of these productions. Much of the scenery was made by the boys under the guidance of Mr. May.

THE WHITE-HEADED BOY

An Irish comedy, "The White-Headed Boy", was presented by Girls' Club in December. With an excellent cast and the direction of Miss Remsburg, this year's Girls' Club Show was so successful that it was necessary to give two performances.

"The White-Headed Boy" presented the story ot a spoiled son of an Irish family. Because of his gambling, Denis not only failed again in his board examinations but also raised the wrath of his family to such an extent that they ordered him off to Canada. In view of the uncertainty of his life there, Denis refused to take his fiancee, Delia, with him.

John Duffy, Delia's father, demanded money from Denis for breaking his engagement with her. Denis' mother, and his brother, unknown to each other, bribed Duffy to keep him from bringing suit, and Aunt Ellen promised to marry him for the same reason. While the family had been with difficulty keeping up their determination to cross the darling of their hearts, Denis had got a job as a common laborer. The family, disarmed by his acquiescence, broke through their assumed hard-heartedness and once more set him upon his pedestal. He was given the job promised to his brother, Peter, the money saved for Baby's education, and that saved for Jane's dowry. The family once more gave up their wants for Denis; they would get their due, someday.

IF I WERE KING

"If I Were King" was acclaimed by all as one of the best dramatic productions ever given by a Senior Class of Oak Park High School.

The leads handled their parts with rare ability, the supporting parts were more than adequately portrayed, and the mob scenes were vividly realistic and moved with unusual speed. Much credit should go to the several committees that worked so hard to make this production a success. The real applause must, of course, be given to Miss Payne, the director, for the smoothness and excellence of the performance.

The play opened in a tavern in which was found King Louis XI disguised as a simple burgess. It was here that he heard Francois Villon, the poor but proud vagabond poet of France, boast of what he would do if he were King. He also witnessed the fight between Villon and Thibaut d'Assigny, the traitor.

It is because of some faint liking for Villon that he made Villon Lord Constable of France. The conditions under which Villon was bound were most cruel. He was to rule for seven days and his last duty as Lord Constable was to order Villon to be hanged. If, however, he could win the love of Katherine de Vaucelles he was to go free. Villon, after magnificently saving France from the Duke of Burgundy, wins.

CLUBS

"Through the courtesy of . . ."

Following the modern trend, Drama Club went on the radio this year. Future Don Ameches and Jack Bennys made their debuts on the educational programs over WMAQ and WLS. Instead of exhibiting their histrionic talents, the actors, this year, concentrated on effective inflection of their voices. However, some true drama was played, notably at the take-off on the class play, "Let the King Swing". The membership is now composed entirely of Seniors since the forming of the Junior dramatic club, Footlights.

LINCOLN CLUB

On alternate Tuesday nights fifty Lincoln Club members, chosen by the faculty, met in room 230. Primarily interested in debating and parliamentary law, the boys this year tried to promote peace by presenting to the student body and to the P.T.A. a pageant called "Let There Be Peace". In showing the efforts of intelligent men to bring about lasting peace through neutrality legislation, the members learned much about the writing of laws and about the functions of Congress.

"Some Forum!"

"Honest, Abe?"

"Guess what—I'm in Forum!" This little gal has a right to be proud, for only fifty girls in the upper classes are chosen by the faculty to become members. Forum is essentially a debating club, but with a little parliamentary law, clever stunts and good "eats" mixed in, you have one of the most valuable and enjoyable clubs in the school. The girls take over the entire proceedings at each meeting, and become thereby more poised and capable leaders.

GAVEL

Fifty Junior and Senior girls are chosen by the faculty for Gavel Club from those who are interested in debating and parliamentary law. The relative merits of co-educational and girls' colleges and a public medical-care plan were discussed by Gavelites. The possibility of flavored glue on postage stamps also came under their consideration. The mothers' tea and the joint meetings with Forum and Lincoln were greatly enjoyed. The last semester, Gavel missed the understanding of Miss Bergstresser, who was ill.

BURKE CLUB

Burke Club, after its successful career under Mr. Platt, was taken over this year by Mr. Wilson. This traditional debating club is open to Junior and Senior boys chosen by the faculty for their leadership and ability. The meetings are characterized by the contrast between the serious and the ridiculous. Debaters discuss current problems with due gravity, but a moment later the room is noisy with laughter at some impromptu speech, funny stunt, or particularly lively law-drill.

Junior and Senior girls with literary aspirations find Story Club the club for them. Membership is limited to fifty girls of proven literary and scholastic ability. The budding authoresses meet twice a month to read their manuscripts and to hear those written by other members. This year's meetings, among which the Mothers' Tea and the Christmas Party were especially entertaining, hit a new high in fun and enjoyment. This literary club hopefully believes that some day more than one of its members, with her writings, will place her name in the roster of the world famous.

Terpsichore welcomes to its membership any girl in high school who is talented in the art of dancing. Under the guidance of Miss Gogle, the girls, at their weekly meetings, strive toward perfection in expressing themselves in creative dancing. The business meetings are monthly, when the members make reports on topics which are of special interest to the club. The highlight of this year was the meeting at which the guests from Morton High School entertained the club with a program of interpretive dancing.

GIRLS' CAMERA CLUB

Any girl in school who is interested in photography is eligible for Girls' Camera Club. Members meet twice a month to learn something new about cameras and about taking, developing, and coloring snapshots. At the joint meeting with Boys' Camera Club, always a high light in the year's program, the girls were given a few pointers by experts. The mothers' tea was the climax of the year. There each girl with pride could point out some picture on exhibit and exclaim, "I took that one."

Double Exposure

Watch the seagull!

Boys' Camera Club is one of the important hobby clubs in Oak Park High School. After a tough third-degree, about twenty-five aspirants, representing all the classes, are chosen. The "boys in Room 31" occasionally turn their dark-room into a club room and hear informative talks on composition, retouching, and the like. Again the dark-room devotees meet with the Girls' Camera Club and discuss the relative merits of D 76 and Edwald 12.

Learning bit by bit

In Zoology Club any interested student of that science can learn more about the intricacies of animal life. This year Bertrand Wright, a former student of Oak Park, presented his exhibit of live and poisonous snakes, much to the consternation of feminine members of the club. But as Mr. Aeby said, "We do have a good time and good eats." A lasting contribution for the club, a special group of slides, and mounts, was prepared by Earl Wright, the taxidermist of the Chicago Academy of Science.

Because of the unusual amount of talent displayed by the Juniors in the Drama Club tryouts, one hundred of these aspirants formed a new junior dramatic club. After due consideration, the appropriate name, "Footlights," was chosen for the club. An executive committee of six members was elected to take the place of the usual officers. Open to girls who have taken or are taking manual training, Girls' Manual Arts Club offers further information on related topics. The members were also given valuable training in Parliamentary law. Although the group wasn't organized until the middle of the year, the remaining semester was full of activity. At Marshall Field the girls examined and heard an informative talk on china. A new field of interest was opened to the girls by a lecture on the designs in Oriental rugs.

The music goes down and 'round . . .

The members of Music Club are students interested in music, including those who are talented and those who enjoy the talent of others. This club affords an opportunity for students to come forth and display their skill and also for members to hear musicians from outside school. Mrs. Boynton of the Music Department presented an Indian Program. After that meeting, many Music Club members gave up practicing scales on the violin and took up the study of tom-toms.

STAMP CLUB

Stamp collectors find a pleasant outlet for their enthusiasm in the Stamp Club. The only restriction placed upon membership is that one must have a sincere interest in this hobby. Contests, involving the knowledge of stamps, have aroused the interest of the members. Another unique feature of this year's meetings has been the opportunity for shrewd trading afforded by stamp auctions. Stamp Club tends to make its members more cosmopolitan in their views because they deal with stamps from such a great variety of countries.

CHESS CLUB

If a person enters the lunch room some Tuesday afternoon, he may see twelve or fourteen people wrapped in deep thought. These students, watching every move intently, are members of Chess Club. Chess is one of the newest clubs in school and is open to anyone with passing grades who has an interest in this ancient game. They had tournament play every other meeting, and in this way the club team was chosen. This team has played teams from other chess clubs. At other meetings speakers were heard or instructive exhibitions of chess problems were given.

Radio Club is composed of boys who are interested in radio, both as a hobby and as a vocation. The only requirement for membership is a genuine interest in radio. The programs are composed of technical talks, personal experiences, and general discussions. For the licensed amateur and the advanced beginner, the club maintains a fairly complete station. When tuned properly, the transmitter puts thirty watts into the ether. The station call W9BMQ is one of the very oldest of the amateur signals, being issued in 1930.

Not only does the sophomore dramatic club, Masqueraders, offer an opportunity for those who like "to strut and fret their hour upon the stage," but also for those interested in production committees. This year's make-up committee deserves praise for their excellent work. "In the Spring a Young Man's Fancy" was one of the most successful plays given. A consistent grade of "A" in English is necessary for membership and many are the apples polished by anxious Masqueraders for their English teachers.

One of the larger clubs in school, Arts and Crafts, is open to all Sophomore and Junior girls. For about one-half hour of every meeting the girls divide into three groups, one for knitting, one for sewing, and the third a "take a chance" group. Each semester was brought to a climactic close. At Christmas time the girls gave a party for a hundred settlement children; and the last meeting of this semester they held a mother's tea and fashion show.

Many Spotlights of prominent Seniors contain the familiar sentence, "In his freshman year he was a member of Latin Club", for membership in this club seems to be the starting point of many a brilliant high school career. Students of Latin I(2) with a sufficiently high average may join Latin Club. During the year each member had an opportunity to take part in a play or one of the programs arranged for the club. Besides learning about Latin customs and about the interesting culture of Rome, the members made new friends in the Freshman class. The highlight of the season was a Roman meal served in true ancient style.

Test tubes, mercury, barometers; this is the atmosphere of Science Club. One hundred Freshman students who are taking science and are interested in experimental work make up the membership of this club which plays its part in giving freshmen a fine chance for social contacts. These students must have an average of "B" in all studies in order to be eligible. Their activities consist of scientific experiments and talks given by the students and members of the faculty of the Science Department.

BOYS' ATHLETICS

FALL SEASON

The fall season of 1936 can truthfully be termed a successful one for Oak Park. Two Suburban League Championships were captured; and in the schedules of the remaining teams, the victories far outbalanced the defeats.

The varsity football team, led by Captain Junkunc, although they started their season in a disappointing manner, ended in a burst of power and glory. After dropping the opener to Riverside, they journeyed to Canton, Ohio, where they suffered their only other defeat. Then, inspired by the sting of their recent set-backs and by a new-found spirit, Coach Holmes's men struck their real stride and drove through their Suburban League opponents to clinch the championship. A driving, smashing power, combined with an alertness to capitalize on all breaks, and supported by superb kicking, was largely responsible for the team's great success.

This year, the usual high standards of the Fresh-Sophs were maintained as the underclassmen captured the Suburban League championship. Losing the first game to Riverside, they came back and took the next seven games in a row. Coach Souchek, as usual, took a comparatively green squad and made of it a team of top calibre. Captain Armstrong's teammates promise much good material for future varsity championships.

Showing the finest spirit and ability in its short history as an organized team, the junior varsity football team, led by Captain Shearman and coached by Mr. Gocker, finished their season far in the lead, winning five out of six games. In addition, the "JV's" helped the varsity to its successful season in their capacity as "suicide squad."

Proviso and Morton proved too good for Captain MacCallum's "Fighting Lights," causing them to drop three of their seven games. Aside from these set-backs Coach Harshbarger's charges gave a highly satisfactory account of themselves. This team is limited to those weighing 135 pounds or less.

This year's soccer team, handicapped by injuries and the return of only one letter-man, Captain H. Anderson, was not up to the usual standard set by Mr. Wood's state champions of last year. However they finished their hard schedule with but three defeats; and in their final game they had the satisfaction of beating Mooseheart, the accepted state champions, by a decisive score.

WINTER SEASON

With the Fresh-Soph basketball team winning the only Suburban League Championship, and with the rest of the teams finishing well up near the top, the winter season, while not as outstanding as the fall season, was fairly successful.

Suffering no losses in the individual meets, Coach Woodruff's varsity track team went down before an unusually strong New Trier delegation in three of its winter meets, having to be content with second place in the Suburban League meet and in the Oak Park Relays for the first time in the history of the field house. An excellent spirit mustered by Captain Cotsworth was largely responsible in overcoming the handicaps of three ineligibilities and two injuries. The Fresh-Soph squad, not reaching their best form until late in the season, took third place in their district.

Coach Scott's varsity cagers ended with a tie for second place in the Suburban League. Lacking players of exceptional brilliancy, the team, by working together with great smoothness and by giving all they had until the final gun, turned in fine performances. Bill Coulter and Jay MacDowell, who acted as co-captains, were largely responsible for the team's good showing.

Co-captains Esser and Sellergren of the Fresh-Sophs fought with their teammates to the only Suburban League championship of the winter. Coach Noth has a right to be proud of his squad, who lost only 4 of the 18 games scheduled.

The lightweight and junior varsity teams were combined to form this year's "J. V.'s." Coached by Mr. Gocker and captained by Frank Hoeksema, their season was a balanced one, the victories equaling the defeats.

Mr. Smith's varsity splashers finished their 1936-1937 season hanging tightly to second place in the Suburban League. New Trier, with a strong team in this sport, too, certainly proved to be this year's jinx. Outside the league, Oak Park, captained this season by Fred Drennan, lost only to Shorewood and Maine, champions of Wisconsin and Illinois respectively. The Fresh-Soph swimming team, although finishing third in the league, gained much needed experience for next year's season.

SPRING SEASON

This spring, with the track team rising to unexpected heights, the tennis team keeping up its usual high standard, and the Fresh-Soph baseball nine showing great power, the middle-of-the-road performance of the other teams was well out-balanced. In addition, an unusually active program of intramural sports was carried to a successful close.

Mr. Foster's varsity baseball team, although an improvement over last year's nine, did not come up to all expectations. The fielding of the team was excellent, but weak hitting and a few bad breaks kept them from winning consistently. A little more punch on the offensive would have made Captain Lane's nine a winner in many of the games lost by a run or two. The Fresh-Soph baseball squad, developing much more power than usual, was on the whole very well balanced. In spite of limited practice facilities they turned in a splendid record. Coach Asbury's team promises some first rate material for the varsity.

The Oak Park netmen, under the direction of Mr. Noth, hitting a fast pace in early season play, pushed on to a fine record. Sporting no star players, but with several, including two freshmen, who were plenty good, they won nearly all their matches. Captain Milchoefer should feel very proud of his team's fine showing.

This year's golf team was not outstanding, but good games were at times turned in by all the members of the squad. Captained by Earle Wilde, Oak Park's only recent qualifier in a state meet, and coached by Mr. Gocker, the team, although starting poorly, came through with a fairly satisfactory season.

The varsity track team, greatly strengthened in the weight division and showing much improvement over their indoor form, came through in a spectacular manner. After winning all their preliminary meets they climaxed a very successful season by taking both the district and the state meets. The Fresh-Soph squad, continuing the fine record made indoors, swept through the greater part of their outdoor meets.

In addition to the foregoing interscholastic competition, there was a total participation of over two thousand boys in the eleven intramural sports, fourteen hundred boys and girls in the annual gym exhibit, over fifty boys in the life-saving classes, and about three hundred in the pre-season practice.

FACTS AND FIGURES

...Not Guesswork

Recently we asked a customer seeking credit to fill out a financial statement. As he told us later, he first thought making out the statement would mean a lot of work. But, when he brought the information to us, he said enthusiastically:

"I'm glad you asked me to do this. These figures give me a clearer picture of my business than I've ever had before. From now on, facts and figures—not guesswork—will be my policy."

We require a financial statement from commercial borrowers because it safeguards the interests of our depositors—and is usually helpful to the borrower.

A Scene from the Fabric Fashion Show

Held May 3rd and 4th, 1937

ARE you in it? In the picture are several Oak Park High School Girls. If you can't find yourself you've missed a treat—a chance to see what can be done with patterns and fabrics from Wieboldt's.

FOR much less than what it costs to buy a dress, you can make one. Your own originality is what counts . . . a scarf here, a sash there, transforms last year's dress to this year's frock! And once you start—ideas keep coming. Each bit of searching—each new idea employed will some day come in handy—perhaps in your job—perhaps when a household budget won't stretch.

WE want you to know how helpful Wieboldt's can be—now and always. Don't miss the next Fabric Fashion Show. Ask Miss Magowan when it's going to be.

PALMERS'—FOR FLOWERS

Maintaining our leadership in Oak Park, where for the past sixteen years, we have been satisfying its most discriminating flower buyers.

Here you will find, as in the past, an inflexible policy to provide the finest and freshest flowers, plants, and floral arrangements, so artistically clustered as to enhance their natural loveliness—and at prices that will instantly dispel any idea that choice flowers are a luxury.

William Palmer
